Morris ARC Teacher of the Year

Posted on 05/26/2016

Katherine Cascioli, 3rd Grade Teacher at Troy Hills Elementary School receives the Morris ARC 2016 Teacher of the Year Award.

Katherine celebrated this honor on Wednesday evening with many students and parents, her Father Vito, teachers, friends and parents. Katherine humbly spoke about the various, 'teachers' in her life. With passion, she spoke about the work of the Morris ARC and her dedication to the organization.

Among the 17 nominations, the most ever for the ARC Morris Teacher of the Year Award, were her principal, teachers and parents.

Katherine's mother, Diane Cascioli was dedicated to the mission of the ARC Morris. Katherine is an embodiment of her mom's values of inclusion, love, and family. When Katherine's mom passed 7 years ago, she was asked to become involved with the ARC Morris as a board member. Katherine will become the president of the ARC Morris next year.
